

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method is disclosed for making a microelectronic package. A material is applied to a first major surface of a microelectronic element to reduce the heights of protrusions projecting from the first major surface. The microelectronic element is assembled to a microelectronic component. A method of forming protrusions and an assembly incorporating the microelectronic element having protrusions is also disclosed.

460442_1.DOC